HUNDREDS OF HOMES TO BE PULLED DOWN

HUNDREDS of homes on three Harlow housing estates could be demolished to pave the way for major new residential developments, the Star can reveal.

Ageing council and privately-owned bungalows at The Briars, Copshall Close and Aylets Field will be bulldozed and replaced with new properties if plans are approved by councillors later this year.

The phased redevelopment – which will not begin until March 2012 at the very earliest – will see those affected temporarily rehoused elsewhere in the town.

Private owner-occupiers will have to sell up to the authority or face the possibility of being made the subject of compulsory purchase orders. It could also mean that some council tenants will be forced to downsize if their housing needs have changed since they last moved home.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor

Staple Tye ward councillor John Strachan, who will lose his current home in The Briars if the plans go ahead, said most residents were disappointed with the proposals.

"The vast majority of residents are very unhappy with these plans," he said. "There are people who have lived here for 20 or 30 years who stand to lose cherished family homes, and many will be forced to downsize if, for example, their kids have moved out.

"Residents are bitterly disappointed that the option of refurbishing the bungalows has been discounted. It would be a big project but would be much less disruptive and more cost-effective than demolition and rebuild."

The neighbourhoods have long been identified as priority estates in urgent need of regeneration. Earlier this year Harlow Council held a series of public workshops at which residents were invited to help shape a "vision" for the future of the estates.

Independent consultants EC Harris were then appointed to review the feedback and the results of estates surveys before recommending deliverable ways of regenerating the area.

Join Ben and Jack on Santa Fun Run

TWO people already in training for next month's Santa Fun Run in aid of St Clare Hospice are brothers Ben and Jack Millard.

The pair signed up to take part because supporting St Clare is important to them after their father was cared for by the local hospice service.

"It is a valuable part of our community and supporting a local charity is important," said Ben. "St Clare continues to do great work and it's more important than ever to raise the money they need."

Ben and Jack's dad was admitted to the hospice's inpatient unit during Christmas 2005 with terminal bowel cancer and died there in the January.

"St Clare is close to our hearts after they cared for our dad so wonderfully," said Jack.

Ben has already trekked across Peru and is running the London Marathon in aid of St Clare next year. "We're really looking forward to taking part in the Santa Fun Run, it sounds like great fun and I'm sure it will be an important part of my marathon training," he joked.

The Santa Fun Run – which takes place on Sunday, December 12 and is being supported by the Star – follows a 4km route in and around Harlow Town Park and the emphasis is on fun. All adults taking part will be given a full Santa suit complete with beard and belt to wear while children will receive a Santa hat.

St Clare Hospice will be holding a Christmas fayre on Sunday from 11am-3pm. There will be stalls selling crafts and cakes as well as a raffle and tombola. Entry is free.

"We want to see mini Santas being pushed around in their push chairs, dogs dressed up being taken for a walk around the course and as many Santa athletes running across the finish lines to roars from the crowd," said St Clare's events fundraiser Tracy Stratford.

"There is now less than a month to go so you need to sign up quickly to receive your free Santa suit or hat for the children. Go on, do something fun and special to support the people we'll be caring for this Christmas."

Registration costs £15 for adults (16 and over) and £5 for children. Children under 15 years old must sign up with an adult. All you have to do to register to take part is visit the hospice website at www.stclarehospice.org.uk and click on the homepage link or call (01279) 773750.

Entries must be received by Thursday, December 9.

Hospital's new sensory room is a gift from grateful Stacey

A SENSORY room to aid the development of special needs youngsters has been opened at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The facility has been funded by the Kisses4Kids charity set up by 18-year-old Stacey Johnson and is her way of thanking staff on Dolphin Ward for the care she has received while battling a brain tumour.

"This is a truly wonderful feeling knowing that this will benefit so many children," she said.

The room, which encourages youngsters to learn through play, cost £6,300 and has taken six months to equip. It features special lights and other sensory equipment for children to explore as well as a mural by Garrie Fowler.

"Children who visit our ward will get so much pleasure from this fantastic addition."

The sensory room is the third project Kisses4Kids has funded at PAH following a summerhouse for teenagers and a toy Porsche to ferry young patients to appointments or to surgery.

Talks continue as date for TV signal switchover looms

THOUSANDS of Harlow residents may be forced to fork out hundreds of pounds to upgrade their TV viewing equipment when analogue broadcasting is switched off in the Anglia region next year.

Analogue broadcasts relayed through the town's cable network are set to stop in 2011, leaving viewers who rely on the signal without free-to-air channels including BBC One, ITV and Channel 4.

Freeview set-top boxes will not work through the current piped system, meaning residents will have to pay for an aerial to be installed or subscribe to paid-for services such as Sky unless current network provider Virgin Media agrees to offer a free service.

Fold Croft resident Tony Ailing said he had hit a brick wall trying to find out more from both Harlow Council and Virgin Media.

"I've been asking questions about this for the past six months but no-one can come up with a clear answer," he told the Star.

"Harlow Council said initially that they were trying to meet with Virgin Media. Then when I called again recently they said exactly the same thing. They seem to be no further along in sorting it out."

"My fear is that this switch-off date is getting closer and closer and we are sleepwalking into a huge problem."

Harlow's piped network was installed by the council in the 1970s after it banned TV aerials. Maintenance of the network was taken over by Anglia Cable and is now run by Virgin Media.

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

Paying for a professional engineer to install a new aerial can cost more than £80 – and anyone putting one up would be breaking the council's covenant banning their use.

A spokesman for Digital UK, the organisation responsible for overseeing the analogue-to-digital switchover in TV regions across the UK, said it was a matter between the council and Virgin Media.

Joel Charles, chairman of the council's community and citizenship working group, said it was aware of residents' concerns.

"We are in communication with Virgin Media about the future of the piped TV system," he said. "The council will continue to lobby on residents' behalf to retain the same level of TV service post-switchover."

"There is a legal agreement in place for Virgin Media to provide free-to-air channels. Virgin has, in the past, confirmed that the service would continue post-switchover and we expect them to honour this commitment."

The council is also reviewing the covenants banning the use of TV aerials as it looks at a range of issues surrounding broadcasting.

A Virgin Media spokeswoman told the Star discussions with the council were ongoing but said a decision had yet to be reached.

Theatre group in London 'show'

YOUNG members of inclusive performing arts group Razed Roof played to their biggest audience yet when they took part in the Lord Mayor's Show in London on Saturday.

The group, which is based at Harlow Playhouse and caters for 16-18 year-olds with and without disabilities and learning difficulties, joined more than 200 youngsters on one of four floats highlighting the work of youth charity the Jack Petchey Foundation.

Annette Lidster, Razed Roof's artistic director was even interviewed by BBC TV presenter Clare Balding (pictured above) as she followed the procession through central London.

"It was an amazing experience and something we will all remember," she said. "I told Clare how, 10 years ago, a £1,000 grant from the Jack Petchey Foundation kick-started our project for mainstream young volunteers to work with young people with learning disabilities."

Judge imposes hospital order on woman convicted of arson

A WOMAN who caused thousands of pounds worth of damage after setting fire to her own home will be detained in hospital – but allowed out at weekends to go jogging as part of her treatment.

The 44-year-old, who cannot be identified for legal reasons, was found guilty of arson and reckless endangerment of life at a trial in March.

Since then she has undergone psychiatric assessment which resulted in numerous delays before Judge Charles Gratwicke finally imposed the hospital order last week. "This court has no doubt there is a risk to the community of you committing further offences," he said.

As well as setting fire to her home last July, the jury was told the woman had done the same thing twice before.

Stephanie Farrimond, prosecuting, told Chelmsford Crown Court that on July 30 last year neighbours noticed the woman's home was on fire. "Emergency services were called in and the fire was brought under control while an adjacent property received smoke damage."

"She [the defendant] was later arrested trying to get back in to the property and taken to the police station where she banged her head against the cell wall and said: 'I hear voices.'"

Miss Farrimond said an investigation by the fire service revealed an armchair in the lounge had been set alight with a flame.

Jamie Sawyer, in mitigation, said the offence was committed as a time of "extreme pressure" and argued that a restriction order was not necessary.

Generations unite to honour the fallen

THE people of Harlow turned out to pay their respects to the servicemen and women who have lost their lives in conflicts past and present at a Remembrance Day service on Sunday.

Veterans, serving officers, representatives of youth organisations, local dignitaries and more than 500 residents gathered at the Nettleswell War Memorial in School Lane to remember those who made the ultimate sacrifice for their country.

A military parade and marching band started proceedings before Reverend Albert Watson led the main service at the Town Park memorial garden.

Harlow Royal British Legion secretary Valerie Fitz-John said: "This was the best-attended service we've had for some time."

"It was very encouraging to see so many people turn out to pay their respects. It's so important that our fallen heroes are never forgotten."

"There is no doubt that our Armed Forces' continued involvement in Afghanistan has raised people's awareness of the sacrifices our chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk brave servicemen and women have made in conflicts past and present."

Among those laying poppy wreaths at the base of the war memorial were Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council chairwoman Sue Livings.

Mr Halfon told the Star: "For too long at Remembrance services only the names of those in action before or in the Second World War have been read out. This time all those who have fallen since 1945 were included."

"It was a day to remember our brave Armed Forces and a day of dignity for Harlow."

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson added: "It was a fitting service to remember those who lost their lives while serving for their country."

"We remembered those who fought for our freedom during the two World Wars and we also mourned and honoured those who have lost their lives in more recent conflicts. We will never forget them."

Veterans on parade at Armistice Day service

WAR veterans paid their respects to the fallen in an Armistice Day parade at the Potter Street War Memorial on Thursday.

The former servicemen were joined by the congregation of St Mary Magdalene Church for a short service at the memorial on Harlow Common before leading a procession back to the church.

Second World War veteran Albert Hobdell, who helped organise the event in his role as chairman of the League of Gentlemen 95, told the Star: "It was an emotional day and we had a marvellous turnout considering the awful weather."

"I must say the elderly people of the church were swinging their arms when we marched so superbly that I wouldn't have minded having them in the Army!"

Mr Hobdell also praised the police for helping co-ordinate the march.

"I asked the police for assistance and I must say that it was the finest example of community policing I have ever seen," he added.

Teenager cleared of raping girl (14)

A JURY took just 90 minutes to clear a 15-year-old boy of raping a girl of 14 in bushes just yards from a busy Harlow road.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told the defendant, who cannot be named for legal reasons, had admitted he had sex with the girl but only with her agreement.

The pair had met up at the bus station in Terminus Street on May 11 this year and walked through the town towards the NCP multi-storey car park in Kitson Way.

Jurors were told that the boy had then run into bushes, claiming he was hiding from his father who had banned him from the town.

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

The girl followed when he failed to re-appear.

It was alleged by the prosecution that the boy then took off her school blazer, laid it on the floor with his jacket, pulled down her trousers and knickers and then his own trousers before forcing himself upon her.

The girl later claimed she was raped repeatedly, telling friends, a school listener, teaching staff, a nurse and police of her ordeal.

But the boy, who denied rape, told the jury it had been consensual sex.

In a police interview conducted after he had been arrested he said they been in contact on Facebook and that she had sent him a text before they met asking for sex.

He initially told officers that he had not even met up with the girl on the day of the alleged incident, claiming she was making up the allegation because he had rejected her.

But he then broke down and started crying, telling his interviewers "I did do it, I did it".

However, defence counsel Graham Brown told the court that this admission referred to the boy having had consensual sex with the girl and not rape.

Residents join in a sing-a-long with piano man Michael RESIDENTS living in sheltered accommodation in Harlow enjoyed a long-awaited sing-a-long on Thursday thanks to the Star.

Until then, a brand new piano had been sitting in the common room at Tynley Croft gathering dust.

The instrument was donated by one of the residents and after an appeal last month in the Star's Community Corner page they were contacted by piano player Michael Skinner.

He played some popular songs for the group who sang along and also told some amusing tales.

Tynley Croft resident Alf Brill (93) said: "We had a really good time. Michael was not the only piano player to come forward but he was the first so we invited him to come in every other week.

"We are very thankful to the Star for printing the article in the first place which prompted the pianists to contact us."

Hundreds of homes will have to be demolished

An alternative suggestion of retro-fitting the bungalows to bring them up to the decent homes standard laid down by the previous government was then discounted by the council after the consultants' report deemed refurbishment as poor value for money, leaving demolition as the only option.

Although the council has yet to identify exactly how the project will be funded, it is confident of securing a combination of Government funding and private investment. This would mean the developments are likely to feature a considerable number of private homes as well as council-owned properties.

Council leader Andrew Johnson told the Star the proposed redevelopment would deliver better quality homes, improve the layout of each estate, address parking problems and improve residents' safety and security.

"We worked closely with residents of The Briars, Aylets Field and Copshall Close earlier in the year to understand their priorities for the estates," he added.

"Over the summer the findings of that work, along with evidence about the condition of the bungalows, was considered by professional property advisors who have recommended that the bungalows be demolished.

"Our priority has always been to ensure that the residents enjoy living in a high standard of home in an attractive and safe place."

Detectives release e-fit of suspect in sex attack

POLICE investigating an alleged sex attack on a 37-year-old woman in the Northbrooks area of Harlow last Tuesday have released an e-fit of the suspect.

The victim was walking through an alleyway near to Northbrooks House at around 7pm when a man grabbed her from behind, pulling her to the ground. He tried to pin her down but she fought him and was able to injure him sufficiently that he let her go and ran off.

The victim, who suffered bruising and a small cut, was left shaken by her ordeal.

The attacker is described as black, about 5ft 8ins tall, 30-38 years of age and of medium build. He also has distinctive tribal-type scarring on both cheeks.

Detective Inspector Martin Read said: "The description of the scarring below the eyes is of particular interest and I would like to hear from anyone who can provide a name for any man fitting this description."

Meanwhile, rumours that a series of women have been sexually assaulted in Harlow over the past week have been quashed by police.

Text and Facebook messages sent out to residents across the town claim that up to eight women have attacked since officers launched an investigation into the incident in Northbrooks.

One message claims that women were raped in Fourth Avenue, at the skate park in First Avenue and in Hare Street Park, Canons Brook and Katherines. Police said all these reports are incorrect.

Divisional Commander Chief Superintendent Simon Williams told the Star: "The text and Facebook messages currently circulating in the Harlow area are misleading and incorrect."

"We are investigating a report of an attempted rape in Northbrooks last week. There was also a stabbing in the Hides in which a man was injured."

"All the other incidents reported within the messages and texts are incorrect."

Anyone with any information about the Northbrooks attack should call Harlow CID on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Views sought on homes blueprint

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS are being given the chance to voice their opinions of plans that could pave the way for thousands of new homes to be built in the Harlow area.

A 10-week public consultation exercise to gauge views on the suitability of sites earmarked for development – including land north of Harlow and of Gilden Way – got under way this week.

The plans have been put together by Harlow Council which is in the process of compiling its Local Development Framework – a long-term strategy for the town's growth.

Although the council's recent consultation on the future structure of the authority generated a disappointing 137 responses from the town's population of more than 70,000 people, officers are confident of receiving a minimum of 1,800 representations from residents, businesses and community groups already signed up to its LDF mailing list.

Consultation officer Chris Gatland said: "We have a variety of consultation means to ensure that the key stakeholders and everyone in the town can have an opportunity to contribute."

"Our community exhibition roadshow starts next week with events all over the town and within all the neighbourhood centres."

"We have about 1,800 who have already registered for more information and we have targeted hard to reach groups such as schools, disabled or access groups, faith groups or any other groups."

The LDF will replace the old Local Plan and will provide a blueprint for where and how many new homes, offices, factories, shops and schools should be built in the town.

Community and leisure facilities, transport improvements and green spaces will also be considered as part of the plans.

Growth options suggested have been taken from the East of England Plan, even though the controversial region-wide policy has been scrapped by the Government.

Council forward planning manager Paul McBride said the plans could see 16,000 new homes built in Harlow, East Herts and Epping by 2026.

"As part of this consultation process a different figure may be provided," he said.

The consultation started on Monday. To find out more or to sign up to the LDF mailing list or visit the council's website at www.harlow.gov.uk/ldf.

Many children will never have had a gift ... and they may never get another one

SCHOOLS, churches, businesses and individuals across Essex are busy filling shoeboxes for youngsters in overseas countries including earthquake-struck Haiti. This week CATHERINE LOFTHOUSE takes a look behind the scenes at the warehouse in Harlow that will speed the boxes to children in Liberia and Belarus.

IN our age of cynicism, where the message of Christmas often seems to be lost among all the tinsel and trimmings, it's heartening to find a place where the festive spirit is alive and well.

It's hard to believe that a couple of empty shops could be transformed into a veritable Santa's grotto, but that is just what Sue Bree (66) and her team of volunteers have achieved at the Harlow Operation Christmas Child collection point. Stacked floor to ceiling with goodies and brightly wrapped boxes, the banter between the volunteers packing sweets into bags creates a friendly festive environment.

The only thing missing is a dozen reindeer and a sleigh to distribute the presents.

Instead, the boxes will travel by container, with the first 8,000 winging their way to Liberia at the end of the month, along with items such as textbooks, stationery and toilet rolls.

Then a second consignment will be sent to Belarus about 10 days later, along with some special boxes designed for grandparents, and warm clothing.

But, before waving off the boxes, there is plenty of work for the team of 40 volunteers at the collection point to make sure they will bring festive cheer to children in hospitals, orphanages street shelters or living with their families in poverty. The team collects from about 100 local schools, as well as any other organisation that has made up more than 50 boxes.

Others will drop the contributions in at the unit, which is open from 10am to 4pm on weekdays. Last year almost 15,000 boxes came through the warehouse.

Once the boxes arrive, they are sorted according to which gender and age group they are for.

Then the volunteers take a careful look inside each box to make sure there are no liquids or inappropriate items, such as toys related to warfare.

But, as Sue points out, the team makes changes only when it is really necessary, as each box is a gift from its donor to its recipient. For many of the children, their shoebox will be the only Christmas present they receive, so people packing them are encouraged to include a selection of toys, educational supplies and hygiene items such as toothpaste and soap. Sweets are always very popular! All items included should be new and a £2.50 contribution is requested towards promotion, processing, UK transportation and shipping.

Once the boxes have been checked, they are ready for packing into cartons to be transported.

While the Harlow warehouse is a hive of activity at this time of year, Sue and her volunteers are hard at work all year round, meeting once a month to wrap empty boxes or knit gifts.

This year, a pattern for a knitted handbag devised by Mary Johnson (75), of Harlow, has proved particularly popular and now the team has sacks full of these pretty Mary Bags, as they have been dubbed.

Modest Mary is delighted that her first bag, made with fluffy wool, has inspired 2,000 copies. "Other people said they could make some and now we have all different colours," she says.

Sue points out the knitted clothes and blankets to be sent out to Belarus alongside the shoeboxes. She said: "There are people who love to knit and children in this country don't want knitted stuff, so we get a lot of donations of things like blankets."

Donations of knitting wool are always very welcome.

PACKING UP:

The group has been able to use the empty shop as its base all year, thanks to the support of the Harvey Centre management, not only providing a place for the volunteers to meet but also somewhere to store items in preparation for Christmas time.

For most of us, we can only imagine the reaction of the children who receive these gifts from strangers in a faraway land, but Sue feels privileged to have visited Mozambique, Belarus and Romania to watch the youngsters open their presents.

She said: "Some children are so excited they can't contain themselves, some children think the box is the gift and don't recognise that there is something inside and some children are overwhelmed and think: 'Is this for me?' They often share it with their brothers and sisters if they haven't had a box. We don't choose who has the boxes, that is done by our in-country partners.

"Many of the children will never have had a gift before and they may not get another one, as we try to reach new children every year. So many children are in need."

This year Samaritan's Purse, which has been running Operation Christmas Child for 20 years, will be sending boxes to Haiti after the country was hit by a devastating earthquake in January, leaving many families homeless.

Sue said: "In situations like that we know how special a box will be for those kids."

● Visit the website at www.operationchristmaschild.org.uk or call 0870 011 2002 to find out what can be put into the shoeboxes and where they are being collected. Boxes will be welcome at the Harlow collection point until Thursday (November 25).

End of an era for the pupils of Peterswood

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHEN Peterswood Infant School and Nursery closes its gates at the end of the autumn term, it will be for the last time.

Come the New Year the school will be merged with Paringdon Junior to create a new school called Longwood Primary.

Hundreds, or even thousands, of residents in the Paringdon Road area will have passed through the gates of Peterswood since its opened in 1965.

For many, the closure will be a source of mixed emotions as memories of their early schooldays flood back.

And it is these special memories that the school would like for one of its final projects. Peterswood is planning a series of events up until its official closing date - December 31 - to celebrate its 45-year history.

From the start of next month it will be holding a special exhibition in its school hall. Writing and art workshops for pupils will take place as well as research projects tracing the school's history.

A time capsule will also be put together and buried in order to preserve some of the school for future generations to discover.

But first it needs the help of former pupils, parents, teachers and others to compile memories, photographs and artefacts relating to the school. Pictures like these class photographs supplied to Nostalgia by the school which date back to 1965.

It also wants to hear from anyone who is willing to be interviewed by the children for their research project.

To contribute to the celebration, either contact the school direct or send your memories or pictures to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW, or email daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

We will try to use as many as we can and will forward them to the school for their celebrations.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Spinney Junior School

"My aunt, who is 90, recognised my face at the bottom left sitting next to my best friend Glennis Munroe (second from the left)," said Glynis (63), who now lives in Northampton.

"I think it was taken on an open day. I do not remember the photo being taken, but being told to 'cross legs and sit with hands in your lap' rings a bell!"

She added: "I was asked to present a bouquet to a lady that came to the school that day."

"I loved my time at the school and with headmaster Mr Angwin's help and guidance I was shown by him how to spell. His approach to teaching was strict but gentle."

From Cooks Spinney, Glynis went on to Mark Hall Secondary and then to Harlow Technical College where she obtained a City and Guilds qualification in fine cookery.

"I am so grateful to Mr Angwin and to Cooks Spinney for giving me my start in life," she said.

MP seeks ban

Harlow MP Jerry Hayes is trying to ban a new craze coming over the Atlantic from the USA - chewing tobacco. The tobacco is said to cause the gums to recede and teeth to loosen. "It's very dangerous," said the MP.

1,000 at rally

A former New York gang leader who is now a world famous evangelist led a Christian rally at Harlow Sportscentre. Nicky Cruz, author of Run Baby Run, told 1,000 people about how he turned away from a life of crime.

Tents donation

Generous campers have ensured the survival of a children's activity organisation by donating tents. The Harlow branch of the Woodcraft Folk had been threatened with closure after camping equipment was stolen.

Former Harlow MP Stan Newens has written a history of North Weald. Mr Newens represented the village as part of his constituency in the House of Commons up until the 1983 General Election.

Honeymoon in Harlow? You bet!

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsexnews.co.uk

A CHEEKY bookmaker is taking bets on Prince William and fiancée Kate Middleton honeymooning in Harlow – but town leaders have promised a Royal welcome if they do.

Joe Jennings, which has five branches in the town, has offered punters odds of 5000-1 for the couple to celebrate their nuptials in the town.

The Prince and his long-term girlfriend – who will now be known as Catherine – announced their engagement on Tuesday.

Yesterday the pair starting planning their wedding which is expected to take place next spring or summer.

And council leader Andrew Johnson, has promised to gamble a few pounds on a Harlow honeymoon.

“Harlow and its residents have always been staunch admirers of the Royal Family and we would love for the newly wed couple to visit us, perhaps after their honeymoon if not actually on it,” he said. “They will be assured of a tremendous welcome.

“I’ll take a punt myself. After all, Harlow is a town that has beaten the odds time and again in offering great attractions and quality of life to its residents!”

Town centre manager Richard Denney added: “They could always stay at Beckingham Palace which is just down the road. It would be good practice for them!”

The favourite destination is currently Scotland with odds of 10-11, probably because six Royal honeymoons have been at Balmoral.

Meanwhile odds on an English honeymoon are 6-4 whereas punts on Wales or South Africa will get better odds of 10-1.

Jennings’ area manager Steve Moss told the Star: “We’re offering odds on all sorts of things relating to the wedding, from the date to the colour of the Queen’s hat.

“Adding Harlow to the list of honeymoon destinations was a bit of fun but it seems to have provoked a debate in the town.”

Smart Amber wins a Wii

A HARLOW schoolgirl scooped the top prize in a countywide police competition raising awareness of the dangers of alcoholism and drug abuse.

Passmores pupil Amber Moore (12) was presented with a games console for winning Essex Police’s online 2SMART contest. She entered the competition after attending the 2SMART roadshow in Harlow this summer which addressed issues of bullying, knife crime, alcohol and drugs.

Sergeant Anita Taylor, who presented Amber with her prize, said: “The 2SMART roadshows were attended by around 14,000 young people in Essex this year. “We want the next generation to be empowered to make the right choices and it’s really encouraging to see students understanding our messages.” Amber is pictured receiving her prize from Sergeant Taylor and Harlow Schools Liaison officer Lisa Shaw.

Hospital fair fundraiser for a new birthing suite

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital will host an autumn fair this weekend to raise money for a new specialist delivery suite.

The PAH NHS Trust needs to raise a total of £40,000 to build and equip a second specialist suite within the existing birthing unit.

Unit manager Claire Parker said: “We hope to raise as much money as possible so we can start offering more women quicker and easier births in a relaxing setting.”

Sunday’s fair starts at 2pm and will feature a bouncy castle, cake and biscuit decorating lessons, Christmas stalls and a raffle.

WIN Family tickets to Jack and The Beanstalk

RHODES in Bishop's Stortford is giving Star readers the chance to win one of five family tickets to this year's pantomime, Jack and The Beanstalk.

If you're looking for a traditional Christmas treat, then Rhodes offers you something special.

Tickets are already selling fast for this year's spectacular traditional family production. Written and produced by former Harlow Playhouse manager Phil Dale, the show promises a great story, top quality performers and a fantastic set.

"Panto is all about the whole family having fun," said Phil. "It should be a treat for everyone whatever their age."

"You don't just need a great story and top quality performers, but the set, costumes and props have got to be a treat to look at as well."

"The cast are well into their rehearsal schedule now and eagerly awaiting the opening of the show. We have a strong cast with a wealth of pantomime experience and a great team of creatives who I trust to deliver the goods."

"We really do offer the best in terms of excellence and value for money show for the whole family at Christmas time."

For your chance to win a family ticket (for four people) to the panto, answer the simple question in the coupon and post it to: Rhodes Pantomime Competition, PO Box 268, Cambridge CB24 6HF, to arrive no later than November 24, 2010.

Alternatively, you can enter via the dedicated competition link on our website www.harlowstar.co.uk. Be sure to enter 'Rhodes Pantomime Competition' in the competition name line or your entry will be discounted. Usual Star rules and terms and conditions apply.

Rhodes will contact winners by telephone directly.

If you are not lucky enough to be a winner you can still buy tickets for Jack and The Beanstalk, which runs daily from December 10 to January 1. Tickets cost £14.95 (£10.95 concessions) or £44 for a family ticket. Call the Rhodes box office on (01279) 651746 for details.

Garden team get to work!

A GROUP of unemployed young people from Harlow have been sharpening their job-seeking skills by cleaning up a youth club's overgrown garden.

The 10-strong team pulled together to completely renovate the area outside the Hare Street Youth Centre in Harberts Road.

In just two weeks they cut back bushes and overgrown foliage, cleared the area of rubbish and scrubbed up the garden's artificial turf so that it can be used again.

The group even raised £80 for equipment by washing cars and talked local firms into lending their services, including the free use of a skip to dispose of all the rubbish. The challenge was part of a 12-week self-development scheme run by the Prince's Trust and Essex County Council.

The group was set the task of finding and completing a project that would make a lasting difference in the community.

The youngsters come from a variety of backgrounds and for various reasons have found it difficult to get into regular employment.

Prince's Trust youth worker Rebecca Moran said: "The area was overgrown and none of them had done much gardening before, but we've been building up their team skills so they can work with each other."

"It was a really big achievement for them. At one point they didn't think they were going to complete it but with their new-found perseverance they finished it by working together."

"The space which just looked like a junkyard can now be used. Before, we couldn't have young people out there because it was a health and safety hazard. It is now a usable space for the centre."

She added: "We've seen a vast improvement among members of the group. Some of them even want to go into similar work such as landscape gardening."

"It really gave them a taste of what to expect."

Saskia's daily walks are good news for guide dogs charity

A KIND-hearted teenager has raised £270 for Guide Dogs for the Blind by walking 42 miles in a week.

Saskia Burnett (14) covered six miles every day by walking back and forth from her home at Church Langley to the local Tesco store during half term.

The achievement was all the more courageous because Saskia suffers from dyspraxia, which has knocked her self confidence.

She said: "I have special needs which means it is a hard struggle through life anyway, so this sponsored walk was a real challenge for me and a real achievement. "Although I face many difficulties in my life with my special needs, my eyes are not affected and I feel very lucky to be able to see all the wonderful sights and colours in the world.

"I also love animals, so that is why I choose to raise money for Guide Dogs for the Blind."

On one trip Saskia was joined by puppy trainer Brenda Weaver, who brought a dog with her and together they walked two miles.

So far Saskia has raised £270 but she is still collecting and hopes to raise more.

Anyone who would like to donate can do so by visiting her website page at www.justgiving.com/Saskia-Burnett.

Helping hand for charities

HARLOW charities are being invited to apply for a £1,000 stationery and office equipment giveaway.

Throughout this month any good causes that focus on education or job skills training can apply for the bumper prize from the Staples store at the St James Centre in Edinburgh Way.

Store manager James Hall said: "Whether you're running a play group, a Scout pack or want to raise money for specialist equipment, you're always going to need use of a laptop, printer, paper and pens as well printing services for posters and flyers to promote your event."

"At a time when many other businesses are tightening their belts, we felt it was important to support these small groups and make sure they have the equipment they need to be as effective as possible at local fundraising."

Charities wanting to be considered should contact Liz Slee via email on liz@thevitalagency.co.uk or write to her at Staples Back to Basics Fund, 14A Clarendon Avenue, Leamington Spa, Warks, CV32 5PZ.

Club members' trip to London

A PARTY of members of Epping Probus Club visited the Methodist Central Hall at Westminster for a guided tour of the building.

They then went to the Cabinet War Rooms in Whitehall and then visited a Winston Churchill exhibition.

During the past month guest speaker Alan Dowsett gave members a presentation on the Forth Bridge, telling the story of the Scottish landmark from its inception to more recent times.

Club member and rail enthusiast Dick Leng also spoke about how rivalry between two rail companies had resulted in the construction of the two rail bridges.

Centre to hold a Xmas bazaar

A CASH-strapped community centre will hold a Christmas bazaar on Sunday in a bid to raise funds for a major refurbishment project.

The Potter Street Community Centre needs money to give the former neighbourhood offices attached to its main hall a much-needed makeover.

Visitors to the bazaar, which runs from noon-3pm, can meet Santa, enjoy a performance from dance school Makin' Steps and browse stalls selling Christmas gifts.

Makin' Steps tutor Scott Simpson said: "The council is charging us rent on this new space which we have had to take on, but at present it is in no state to hire out. We cannot generate additional income until we have refurbished the offices, which is why we are undertaking a series of fundraising events to help us towards our goal of £18,000."

Entrance to the bazaar is 50p.

Queen gives Facebook her stamp of approval

MANY of you will have heard of the social networking website Facebook.

If you have got older brothers and sisters, they may have their own Facebook accounts. If so, they should check their inbox because they may have a message from the Queen!

Her Majesty has now joined more than 500 million people around the world by having a page dedicated to the British monarchy set up on the online community.

Users will be able to keep up to date with the latest Royal news and events, including a picture diary of Royal appointments and video clips of recent visits the Queen has made.

But anyone expecting to log on and chat one-to-one with HM will be disappointed as her page is not a personal profile and people will not be able to send her personal messages.

However, Facebook members are free to 'Like' her page, meaning updates will appear in their newsfeed. They can also recommend the page to their friends.

The Queen is understood to be a dedicated user of the internet and regularly sends emails. The launch of her new Facebook page shows how the monarchy is keen to take advantage of new developments online.

A spokesman for Buckingham Palace said:

"It's part of our ongoing strategy to adopt social networking as a way of engaging people with what the Royal Family is doing.

"The important thing about Facebook is its international reach as the Queen is Queen of 16 countries and head of the Commonwealth."

THIS is the second week of Launch Pad voting, with three more contenders seeking your votes.

Launch Pad is an innovative competition giving budding entrepreneurs the chance to turn their business dreams into reality.

It is the brainchild of local businessman Robert Ellice who, having grown up and worked in the area, wanted to provide a platform for local people to showcase their business ideas and have the opportunity to develop and turn them into reality.

The project was brought to life by Bryan Hunt, of property firm Clarke Hillyer, and supported by the Star.

Earlier this year potential entrepreneurs were encouraged to submit their ideas for consideration by a panel of local business experts.

Following a phenomenal response, the judging panel has now whittled the original entrants down to a shortlist of 20 who will face a public vote that will help to determine the eventual winner.

"The response to Launch Pad has been fantastic," said Bryan. "People from various backgrounds and situations have come forward with some quite brilliant ideas for a new business in Harlow."

"Now we are inviting Star readers to vote for their favourite entries each week."

All you have to do to take part is log on to the Launch Pad website at www.launchpad-harlow.org and watch the contenders' video presentations before you cast your vote. It's as simple as that!

The idea with the most public votes each week will win a place in the grand final, where the expert panel will decide upon a worthy winner.

This week's video contenders

Mark Roythorne UK9 Environmental Services

My business plan is to focus on one thing at present, which is to reduce the amount of dog waste that is not being picked up by the owners. I intend on doing this by using specialist vacuum equipment to pick it up and dispose of it properly.

As a dog owner myself I hate it when I take my dog for a walk, only to tread in another dog's mess. From research that I have done I know I am not the only one who feels that having a company removing at least some of it is a good idea.

The areas that would be targeted most would be children's play areas, alleyways and narrow walkways where cleaning equipment cannot go. With the system I intend to use no area will be unreachable to clean. I would like to add value, reduce costs and improve the environmental performance of local councils. For example, I will reduce the amount of plastic bags from dog waste bins going into landfill sites.

Joanne Gladstone Yoga Monkies

I propose to open a centre where children from 2-18 can learn yoga in a fun, safe and friendly environment and carry these skills and the immense benefits into their everyday lives.

I am a primary school teacher and have six years teaching experience in the classroom. I have always worked to very high standards and push myself to be the best I can. My passion is yoga which I have been practicing for over seven years. It started as a hobby for fitness and has developed into a way of life. I am dedicated to my practice which I am exploring and developing all of the time. I want to combine my love of teaching with my passion for yoga and give this gift to the next generation. Every child should have the right to access yoga and the positive way that it enhances your life.

To get Yoga Monkies officially off the ground would be a dream and I can't imagine doing anything else that would make me happier.

Simon Rose Wake and See

You go to bed, apply the treatment shell, wake up the next day and you can see without glasses or contact lenses.

Orthokeratology - also referred to as CRT, Orthok, MCCS and OVT - is a little-known temporary treatment for low to moderate myopia (short sightedness). It is ideal for those who wish to be device-free all day but do not wish to risk refractive surgery.

The current optical business model does not lend itself well to this service-rich product. Its delivery is simple and effective. It is not price sensitive and cannot be sold on the internet but is easily marketed via the web.

We now have firm evidence that if treated early enough we may be able to reduce the myopic outcome of individuals. Being able to "cure" myopia is a massive opportunity.

STEWARDS: Studies came to a standstill on Thursday as teachers and pupils observed two minutes silence on Armistice Day.

Year 8 pupils gathered in the school hall to remember those who lost their lives serving in the Armed Forces.

The Last Post was played by special educational needs co-ordinator Chris Waters and Year 9 pupil Clive Mandivenga.

A school spokeswoman said: "Not a sound could be heard as the pupils stood in respectful silence. "It was in all a deeply moving day and ensured that every pupil at Stewards understands the real meaning of remembrance." Earlier, assistant headteacher Terry O'Neill had presented an assembly on the theme of courage featuring footage of British soldiers in conflict.

ST LUKES: Pupils marked Armistice Day on Thursday by dressing up as soldiers, doctors, nurses and evacuees as they learned more about the First and Second World Wars.

They listened to the experiences of former evacuees who were forced to flee their homes during the Nazi bombing raids of World War II before tucking into a typical wartime meal prepared by school catering manager Karen Tapp.

The children then paid their respects to the fallen by observing a two-minute silence and donating to the Royal British Legion's Poppy Appeal, raising £100 between them.

Ms Tapp, whose father and uncle were among the former evacuees taking part, said: "The kids absolutely loved it and my dad and uncle were amazed at how interested the children were and some of the intriguing questions they asked."

PEAR TREE MEAD: The Trotters Road primary has splashed out on refurbishing its swimming pool changing rooms following a fundraising drive.

The facilities now boast a new floor, extra cubicles and a toilet thanks to £3,500 donations from local firm Pitney Bowes and the Friends of Pear Tree Mead.

The work was carried out over the half-term period.

Acting deputy headteacher Sarah Martin said: "The refurbishment has made the swimming pool area a much better environment to get changed and swim in."

"The children are well aware of the changes and are very excited about using the expanded facilities. We've also got a swimming instructor coming in soon to teach them how to improve their skills."

She added: "We are indebted to the generosity of Pitney Bowes and to the tremendous fundraising efforts of parents. This couldn't have been done without them."

Society must be based on need, not demand

SIR, I am hardly encouraged to learn the Church's response to unemployment is a prayer vigil in four months time (Letters, October 28). Nor must we be content with the selected tea and sympathy approach of seizing opportunities for cheap labour which have been attempted in the past.

Rev Martin Harris hits upon the problem when he states: "It is possible to survive an earthquake if buildings are structurally sound." The problem is that our present society is built not upon rock but upon sand. What is required is the revival of a prophetic message from the Church which calls for fundamental changes in our society.

First there is a need to differentiate between work and employment. God created people with a variety of gifts and gave abundant resources, which were meant not for personal advancement but were required to be fairly shared for the good of everybody. He did not instruct people to be employed by others in order to survive while creating the obscene wealth and profit of the rich.

Many unemployed people work hard; they just don't get paid for it. Until recent times most women were in this situation and now many pensioners are in a similar state. Those who seek employment are faced with little choice and are offered payments for such unattractive work, which are a fraction of those who do the more attractive jobs. We need at least a maximum wage as well as a minimum one.

When will the Church realise the poor are not the problem? The rich are the problem. They claim they are responsible for the creation of wealth when in fact they are merely the beneficiaries of its unfair distribution. Many of them have inherited wealth and will pass it on to their children. Ninety per cent of the wealth in this country is in the hands of 10 per cent of the population and unless something drastic is done will remain so.

We are not in this together as Mr Cameron claims – the rich will be affected infinitely less than the poor. The poor benefited little in the good times so why should they be made to pay for the bad times? Cuts will hardly affect the rich but they will be devastating for the poor.

Finally, we do not require continual growth which threatens the planet; there is more than enough for

Most instructors are trustworthy

LETTER OF THE WEEK

The Star has teamed up with Sheaffer, the prestige pen maker, to offer our correspondents the chance to win a stylish Sheaffer 300 worth almost £35. The writer of the Letter of the Week, as chosen by the editor, will win this quality Sheaffer roller ball pen. For more information go to www.sheaffer.com.

SIR, I read with some concern the account of the experience of Thomas Breen with the RED driving school (Star, November 11). The reason for my concern is that I am an approved driving instructor and have been so for nearly 10 years, living and working in Harlow.

Clearly the action of the particular driving instructor in question is deplorable. I can understand Mr Breen's concern and his comment that "you should just pay as you go because you have very little recourse with them if you instructor disappears with your money". However, I can assure him the vast majority of driving instructors are extremely trustworthy.

I do feel, though, that it should be made clear to anyone planning driving lessons that all instructors are self-employed. This is the case if they work for any of the large driving schools or work independently, as I do.

An independent driving instructor is as qualified as one working for a large school and generally has more years of experience. They also have the advantage that they do not have to pay franchise fees to the school and are, therefore, usually able to be much more competitive on price.

We also achieve the same end result in that the learner passes their test. I recently had one young lady pass her test in Bishop's Stortford with no faults at all.

Unfortunately, because of the fact that the larger driving schools are able to spend more money on advertising and tend to flood an area like Harlow with lots of instructors, it is becoming more difficult for independent instructors to survive. My workload has halved since the beginning of this year. I personally only advertise in the Star and rely on recommendations.

May I conclude by saying that I hope Mr Breen is not put off from arranging proper qualified tuition for his daughter as this is the best way to learn.

As a gesture of good faith I would be more than happy to talk to him and possibly arrange to mitigate the situation by offering a free-of-charge lesson to his daughter.

all. We require a society which is based not upon demand but upon need.

God is crying out for justice, care and love for all creation and his voice needs to be heard. This is the real problem the Church needs to address and if it is still in touch with its own God it will do so.

I read that Vodafone, Google, Facebook, Intel and McKinsey & Co have all promised to invest in the refurbishment of the Olympic Park, which is 20 minutes away by train from Harlow Town station.

Despite the recession, I think the next few years will be very exciting.

Councillor Russell Perrin
Civic Centre, Harlow

Well placed to benefit Don't dump it, bin it!

SIR, I was pleased to see David Cameron's ambition for London's East End to become a world-leading technology city to rival Silicon Valley.

Harlow might really benefit from this as we are just up the road and with our town centre regeneration and Anglia Ruskin university we are well-placed to benefit.

SIR, In my role as a councillor I receive frequent complaints about dog fouling. The strongest of these are from dog owners who, having cleaned up after their own animal, find that after running through grass they dog is covered in faeces which some other owner did not clear up.

Worse, there is now a habit of picking it up in a plastic bag and then dumping it under a hedge or hanging it in a tree. The mess would eventually decompose and get washed away by the rain but entombed in a plastic bag it will be there forever.

I would like to remind dog owners that if they really cannot find a dog waste bin it can be put into any litter bin. Better still, take it home and put in your black (landfill) wheelie bin.

It may encourage people to do this if they know the contents of the dog waste bins is sent to a treatment plant where it is processed and turned into gas which is used for energy.

I would also remind owners that if they are prosecuted and the case goes to court, the fine for dog fouling can be up to £1,000 but for dropping litter – and the mummified mess in plastic bag is litter – the fine can be up to £2,500.

Teen thug warned to expect jail

A TEENAGE thug who mugged an elderly woman and threatened a 15-year-old youth who "grassed" him up to police has been warned he faces a substantial jail sentence.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard the 17-year-old boy – who cannot be named for legal reasons – robbed 77-year-old Olive Evelyn as she made her way to a keep-fit class on January 19.

The plucky pensioner unsuccessfully gave chase following the attack in Southern Way. The defendant then later threatened a 15-year-old who gave a statement to police about his involvement in the crime, branding the youth "a grass" and warning: "I'm going to kill you and petrol bomb your house."

The court heard that the mother of the intimidated youth had described arriving home to a huge number of youngsters gathered on a green nearby and said her son had "sounded scared and worried".

Adjourning the case for sentencing, Judge Karen Walden-Smith told the defendant: "You have been found guilty of two offences which

star@hertsexnews.co.uk are plainly serious matters. I will take time to consider the sentence but you can expect a substantial term in custody."

The teenager was also accused of mugging another woman and attempting to rob an 84-year-old but the jury cleared him on both charges.

However, he will also be sentenced on November 24 for a string of burglaries carried out in the town alongside two other 17-year-olds – one from Harlow and the other from Ipswich – and for other offences of burglary, attempted burglary and theft.

The break-ins took place over three days between July 14-17 this year and resulted in the theft of property valued at more than £8,000.

Properties in The Hill, Guilford, St John's Avenue and Wyldewood Farm in Old Harlow were all targeted, with items including wallets, mobile phones, laptops, cameras and iPods with values of between £50 and £3,500 stolen.

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
 Venus finally ends its backward drag this week but as it does it can do wonders for the harmony in one close relationship, where it will get easier for you to assert your need for more space, but not in a way which will alarm your partner. Perhaps more than anything, you will need to burn off any excess nervous energy. Daring adventurism could be the perfect tonic. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
 Luck planet Jupiter does an about turn, and a project that you have long yearned for can, with one push of enthusiasm and self-belief, come within your grasp. Your ruler Venus also turns direct and this can give you the sense that things are ebbs in your direction. In business your determination continues to be awesome, but is money more important than people? Call for your financial scope...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
 Woe betide anyone who takes you on in a verbal spat this week Gemini, because you will be giving them a very sparky response. But you can use this combative-ness in a positive way too, chasing down opportunities more assertively, and in love, having the confidence to let anyone you know like, that you have a thing for them. No barriers will block you. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
 Few tasks either physical or mental will be beyond you. Even if you've recently felt weary or have been suffering with ill health you're going to find new reserves that will see you preserve and bring out your legendary tenacity. And you can also show fantastic dash - particularly for expanding into new exciting areas. Believe that you have the resources to capitalize. Call for your financial scope...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
 If anyone needs to volunteer to organize a Christmas party, it might be you. Your enthusiasm really can be infectious and you can light up any occasion with your buzzy take. If you have an inner child, and hopefully you do, this is certainly the time to come out to play. Property issues are also looking promising, with some unforeseen developments, lifting your mood. >>CHILDREN The Bard's A Midsummer Night's Dream gets a dazzling musical makeover by acclaimed production company Shakespeare 4 Kidz at The Playhouse today (Thursday) and tomorrow (Friday). Packed full of fairies and fun, royalty and romance, magic and misunderstandings, the play promises to provide enchanting entertainment for people of all ages. Performances begin at 1.30pm and 7.30pm today and 10am tomorrow. Tickets cost £16 (£10 children and students).

>>MUSIC The popular programme of lunchtime concerts at St John's ARC in Old Harlow continues tomorrow (Friday) when the World Citizen Soloists present a rousing recital of works by Ravel, Martinu, Previn, Villa Lobos and Delibes. The performance begins at 12.45pm and admission costs £4 (light lunch included).

>>WRESTLING Get ready to rumble as Thunderslam Wrestling returns to The Playhouse on Saturday for another bone-crunching night of fun-packed family entertainment. Hold on to your seats as sinister boss PJ launches a devilish plot to sideline fan's favourite The Rage and man-mountain Tiny Iron to regain control of the corporation. The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £14 (£12 concessions / £48 family ticket).

>>MUSIC The world-renowned Alberni Quartet return to St John's ARC in Old Harlow on Saturday evening with a programme featuring pieces by Mozart, Schubert and Haydn, including his unfinished String Quartet Opus 103. The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £10 on the door or from (01279) 442447.

>>MUSIC Once labelled as Britain's answer to Bessie Smith, Essex chanteuse Stella Goodey – one of Europe's premier jazz and blues singers – makes her debut appearance at St John's ARC next Thursday (November 28). Miss Goodey will perform a repertoire ranging from gospel and blues to the great American songbook, featuring evergreen classics made famous by Bessie Smith, Billie Holiday, Ella Fitzgerald and others. The performance starts at 8pm and tickets cost £10 on the door.

>>MUSIC Internationally-acclaimed tribute show Magic Of Motown motors into The Playhouse on Wednesday following a string of sold-out shows at London's O2 Arena. Featuring pitch-perfect covers of hits by The Temptations, Diana Ross, The Four Tops, Stevie Wonder and The Jackson 5, this is a must for all fans of the legendary Motor City sound. The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £18.50. For ticket availability, call the box office on (01279) 431945.

Cold War comedy proves quite a Bard nut to crack

REVIEW

Romanoff and Juliet
Moot House Players, Moot Hall

IN a world where politics invades almost every facet of our lives, it's refreshing to be reminded how something as pure and simple as love can still be all-conquering.

And in transforming Shakespeare's tragic tale of doomed romance into a gentle comedy with a Hollywood happy ending, Peter Ustinov's Romanoff & Juliet hits upon a feelgood formula without sacrificing too much to schmaltz.

But while the play's whimsical charm marks it out as more of a middlebrow farce than a biting satire, razor-sharp dialogue, complex characterization and a subtle streak of surrealism make this a challenging project for an am-dram group to take on.

Putting on a three-act play with two intervals and a running time approaching the two-and-a-half hour mark is a bold move for any troupe. And if it hadn't been for several powerhouse performances it could easily have outstayed its welcome.

The best of these was undoubtedly stage stalwart Michael Branwell's towering turn as the unnamed president of a tiny middle-European country at the centre of a paranoid tug-of-war between America and Russia.

In the part-narrator, part-protagonist role Ustinov wrote for and played himself, Branwell put in an eloquent performance as a most capricious Cupid to dithering lovebirds Dan Powell and Kerry Rowland, pictured, who both impressed in difficult roles.

Ably supported by the clownish antics of Biddy McAlpine and Monica Albinson as his loyal first and second soldiers, Branwell struck the perfect balance between engaging puppet-master and soppy soliloquist.

Despite a couple of dodgy accents, Alan Hodgson (US ambassador Hooper Moulsworth) and Tony Edwards (his Russian counterpart Vadim Romanoff) essayed their twin character arcs well, while Claire Quley threw herself into the relatively minor role of young Romanoff's jilted bride-to-be with great aplomb.

But as with all good comedy timing is key, and there were moments in MHP's ambitious production when Ustinov's sparkling wit fell disappointingly flat.

While kudos must go to director Rosemary Caswell and her cast for doggedly tackling a teasingly nuanced script, the production ultimately lacked the pace and agility of its author's mind.

Musical youth excel on the big stage

TALENTED youngsters spiced things up at The Playhouse with an all-singing, all-dancing tribute to some of their favourite musical artists.

Spice Up Your Life! saw students from Harlow performing arts school The Academy perform a series of pitch-perfect tributes to groups including the Spice Girls alongside excerpts from well-known musicals.

Those taking part in the sold-out show were aged from 3-19 years. Academy tutor Becky Oliver said it was the first time many of the cast had performed in front of such a large audience.

"All the staff were extremely pleased and proud of the children who worked so hard to make this show their best so far," she said.

"The Academy produces professional standard shows with mobbing lights, sound equipment and sets so there is a lot for the students to deal with once they get to the theatre. They all coped brilliantly and performed the show perfectly!"

>>>CATS & DOGS: THE REVENGE OF KITTY GALORE In the age-old battle between cats and dogs, one crazed feline has taken things a paw too far. Kitty Galore (voiced by Bette Midler), formerly an agent for cat spy organisation MEOWS, has gone rogue and hatched a diabolical plan that will not only bring her canine enemies to heel, but will also take down her former kitty comrades and make the world her scratching post. Faced with this unprecedented threat, cats and dogs are forced to join forces for the first time in history in an unlikely alliance to save themselves – and their humans!

new this week

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 1
certificate 12A 2h26m

AND so it begins – the final chapter of JK Rowling's best-selling fantasy saga which holds the honour of the highest grossing film franchise of all time.

Cleaved in two for creative and commercial reasons, Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows sees Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Ron (Rupert Grint) and Hermione (Emma Watson) facing the renewed threat from Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes, pictured below) and the Death Eaters.

David Yates, who directed the sixth film, strikes an even darker tone for his imagining of the seventh book, leavened with occasional flashes of humour such as when Mad-Eye Moody (Brendan Gleeson) warns his fellow wizards that the magical Polyjuice Potion tastes like something unsavoury a goblin might produce. Screenwriter Steve Kloves remains faithful to Rowling's hefty tome but is allowed brief moments of artistic licence.

Thus we see Harry and Hermione tenderly dancing together while Voldemort preys upon Ron's insecurities and jealousy by taunting him with a vision of a naked Harry and Hermione locked in a steamy embrace, their blushes spared by swirling tendrils of smoke.

The third film is certificate 12A for a reason.

Even more startling is a stylish animated sequence that recounts The Tale Of The Three Brothers from Hermione's copy of The Tales Of Beedle The Bard, which explains the meaning of the Deathly Hallows.

The nefarious Lord Voldemort and his followers, including Bellatrix Lestrange (Helena Bonham Carter) and Lucius Malfoy (Jason Isaacs), continue to grow in power, threatening everything that Dumbledore (Michael Gambon) and his followers hold dear.

With Hogwarts in disarray, Harry, Ron and Hermione embark on a perilous quest to track down the mysterious Horcruxes and stop the forces of darkness from taking a stronghold over the wizarding world.

While Radcliffe struggles to convey the grief of his teenage hero, Watson blossoms, capturing the heartbreak of a Mudblood who may lose everything in the final reckoning. Grint provides comic relief as well as mild sexual tension as Ron wrestles with his feelings for Hermione.

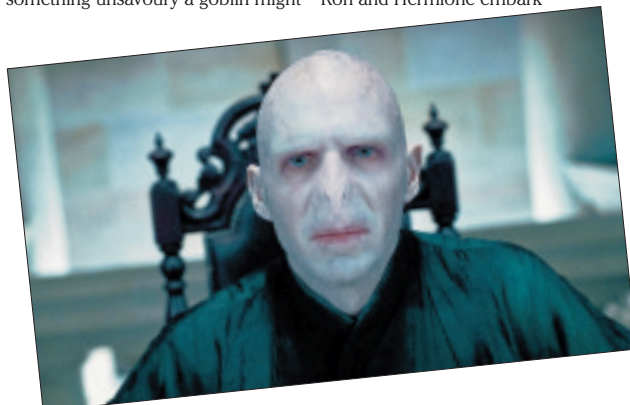

Fiennes glowers with menacing intent behind his flawless make-up and Yates seamlessly melds visual effects and live action, not least with the re-introduction of Dobby.

Originally intended for release in 3D, Harry Potter And The Deathly Hallows: Part 1 will only screen in traditional 2D after the technical wizards at Warner Bros were unable to convert this first instalment to the eye-popping format in time for the worldwide release tomorrow (Friday)

In some ways it's a blessing because the film's running time of 146 minutes would mean eye strain for younger audiences. That said, Part 2 will definitely screen in 3D, ensuring Harry, Ron and Hermione conclude their epic quest with a bang.

Several sequences in this first part have clearly been designed with the format in mind, such as when Voldemort's snake Nagini springs at the camera, fangs bared. Similarly, the opening battle over the skies of London and through motorway traffic would be even more breathtaking with audiences swerving in their seats to avoid oncoming traffic.

Part 1 concludes with good and evil evenly balanced, both sides having suffered losses in pursuit of ultimate victory. The release of Part 2 on July 15 next year seems an agonisingly long way off.

Three-bed detached with conservatory and garage

Home of the week

LOCATION: Denby Grange, Church Langley, Harlow

CATEGORY: Three-bedroom detached

ADDITIONAL: Conservatory, garage with driveway, well-maintained rear garden

PRICE: £279,995

AGENT: Howick & Brooker Partnership, Gothic House, High Street, Old Harlow. Telephone (01279) 418888

THIS three-bedroom detached family home on the popular Church Langley development was built by Countryside Homes in the late 1990s and is just a short stroll from Barnsley Wood.

Accommodation comprises a porch (9'6 x 3'2) with stairs to the first floor, lounge/dining room (17'9 x 15'9), conservatory (13' x 9'7), kitchen/breakfast room (11'9 x 10'4) and utility room (5'6 x 4'7).

The master bedroom (11'6 x 10'7) features fitted wardrobes and benefits from an en suite shower room (6' x 5'7). There are a further two bedrooms (10'3 x 8'5 with built-in storage & 7' x 9' with fitted wardrobes) and a family bathroom (9'1 x 6'1).

The well-maintained rear garden is mainly laid to lawn with side access. There is also a garage and driveway.

Church Langley is a modern, self-contained development with a local supermarket, GP surgery and schooling. Junction 7 of the M11 and a British Rail mainline station are both about two miles away.

Containing all the latest homes for sale and to let - PLUS Commercial Property

Get Creative at Harlow Business Centre

HARLOW Business Centre provides the platform for companies to grow from strength to strength and D3 Creative has done just that.

With more than 10 years experience in helping new companies to create a brand and established ones to re-brand by providing digital printing services, graphic and web design, D3 Creative set out to help companies to grow and gain an advantage over their competitors.

Owner Terry Parker takes great pride in his business and welcomes clients to his workshop in unit E5 at Harlow Business Centre. For friendly advice on design, signs and print at competitive prices, call in or telephone (01279) 639865.

D3 Creative took advantage of the easy in/easy out licence agreements on offer at Harlow Business Centre.

If you are looking for an office or a workshop or indeed both, the centre provides work space ranging from 240-2000ft² and also provides CCTV, security guarding and takes responsibility for the maintenance and insurance of the premises.

Your refuse will be collected and you will have 24/7 access to your unit. There is also free designated and visitor parking and the on-site Management is happy to oversee deliveries for you and if required, will provide admin support for your business.

If you are looking for affordable business premises within a friendly, professional and secure centre, please call our centre manager on (01279) 429644 who would welcome the opportunity of showing you around. Or visit the website at www.harlowbusinesscentre.co.uk.

Old Harlow Business Centre

Tel: 01279 444312 web: www.equitiaoffice.com

Welcome to our new Business Centre based in Old Harlow. Here are just a few reasons why our centre could be of great use to you.

1: Are you commuting to London everyday?

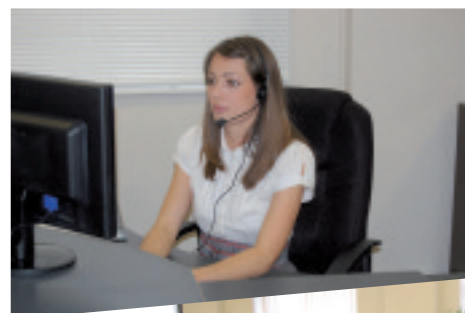

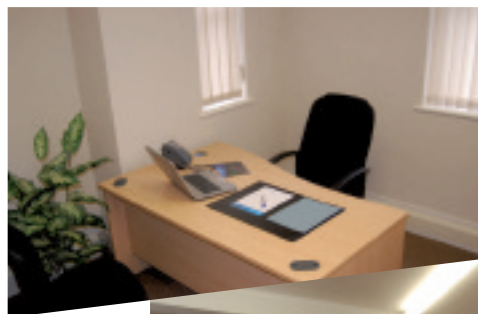

Is your business spending unnecessary amounts of money on travel costs? Would you benefit from a second address with reception facilities in Old Harlow, meetings rooms/office pods to rent by the hour? We have the facilities to enable you to have the full virtual office setup.

2: Spending too much on high business rates, rent and services charges?

If you have to downsize because of economic pressures, but still need to present a professional image, we can provide that - leaving you more profit.

3: Do you run a business from home?

Customers are happier buying from a commercial address. You could be missing out on potential business. A business address gives a great first impression and you can have that facility from as little as £30 a month.

4: Are you getting missed calls on your phone?

Not answering the phone could lose you a lot of money. From £40 a month, you can have a full time receptionist answer your business calls so you don't miss potential business opportunities.

5: Been made redundant and thinking of starting a business?

Are you going into business for the first time and need the edge over your competitors from the start? You can use our business centre to give you the instant established business without the high costs of actually owning an office.

6: Are you self employed?

Do you spend more time out on the road than sitting at a desk? Imagine at the end of the day making use of an office pod for an hour or two. You will have peace and quiet to complete your paperwork quickly.

Open evening at Equitia Office. On Wednesday 1st December between 5pm to 9pm there is an open evening. Meet the Directors, Paul and Del of the Equitia Group. Accountants, Rob and Ian from C Dennis & Co will be available to discuss any questions relating to tax, limited companies & partnerships. Design by Sweet will also be there to talk you through website design, optimisation and graphic design work.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Home of world champs to host GB events

HARLOW'S Ripped Gym will have the honour of hosting not one but two British Powerlifting Organisation Championships next year.

The WPF affiliated gym in The Stow – home gym for two new World Champions from Harlow – will hold one event in March and another in December.

Its two most high-profile members triumphed when representing Great Britain at the World Powerlifting Federation Championships.

Domenic Fazzini (19) and Sebastian Wajnctel, (34), competed in the World Championships at Bath University.

Domenic competed in the teenage 125kg class in the squat, deadlift and bench sections.

Domenic's strength and determination shone through with a 287.5kg squat, 200kg bench and 250kg deadlift, which saw him crowned WPF Teenage World Champion 2010.

To top that success he also broke two world records.

Domenic will be going up a class next year to compete in the youth division.

Sebastian competed in the 110kg class in the bench press. He lifted a phenomenal 270kg, 290kg, and 300kg to become WPF World Champion.

Sebastian was also crowned overall best bench presser of the competition.

Both Domenic and Sebastian were also part of their respective Great Britain teams to win the WPF World team titles for teenage powerlifting and men's bench press.

The gym sponsors both sportsmen.

Michelle Meade, owner of Ripped Gym, said: "We have been waiting for Sebastian to bring home a world title and we are so absolutely delighted and proud that he has achieved this."

"His next aim is to try and break the World Record which is currently held at 307.5kg in the USA."

On Domenic's achievements, Michelle said: "We are speechless at the talent this young man has, he's an up-and-coming star and we see him becoming a huge name in the powerlifting world. Both men are a pleasure to have train at the gym and are an inspiration to us and our members."

She added: "Both Domenic and Sebastian are looking forward to competing on their home ground next year."

Fightback clinches win for Rams after shock start

HARLOW Ladies overcame appalling weather conditions to take a 20-7 victory against a strong and well-drilled Hitchin side on Sunday in the RFUW National Challenge South East (North 2).

The visitors took a surprise lead on two minutes when a centre was put clear and she ran 50 yards to score a converted try under the posts.

Harlow closed the gap after seven minutes when fly-half Lucie Gibson sprinted 35 yards to touch down for an unconverted try near the corner.

The Rams went in front when full-back Abbey Perry showed real pace to skip round two defenders for the touch down (10-7).

Just before half-time Perry sprinted clear for another excellent try. The conversion was missed.

Harlow's front row of Tina Baldwin, hooker Sarah Lucas and Kelly Cotterill shone in the second half.

Five minutes from time Harlow forwards drove over the Hitchin line as Lucas bagged Harlow's fourth unconverted try.

HARLOW LADIES: Baldwin, Lucas, Cotterill, Rochester (Doherty 35), Lee, Dixon, Millman, Lacey, King (Hunter 60), Gibson (Gizzi 30; Marshall 55), Bray, McLellan, McKenna, Morgan, Perry.

School march into Essex final

WILLIAM Martin C of E Junior School triumphed in two Harlow football tournaments.

The boys won through an early stage before triumphing in the Harlow Schools Sports Partnership tournament.

All the boys are Year 6 apart from one, Danny Wickenden (Year 5).

They beat Latton Green 4-3 on spot-kicks in the final after a 0-0 draw in normal and golden time.

Successful penalty takers were Danny, Kieran Mead, Blaine Glynn and Harrison Cook.

They beat Pear Tree Mead, St James and St Nicholas before defeating Church Langley 3-0 in the semi-final.

The school's new headteacher, Janet Matthews, added: "I'm very proud of the team's performance and the skills and spirit they showed."

The team will now represent Harlow in a tournament in Tiptree against other districts in Essex.

Quartet of Harlow athletes named in county squad

FOUR Harlow students were celebrating after they were selected to represent Essex in the South of England Cross Country Championships.

Mark Hall School pupils Alicia McArdell and Canaan Solomon, plus Burnt Mill School students Amelia Barrett and Perry Rowan will run for the county at Shuttleworth Park in Bedfordshire on December 11.

Paul Bailey, a Harlow AC coach, said: "It's great news for the town and it's an honour [for them] to represent their county."

Alicia (13) and Amelia (14) both scored excellent wins in the Metropolitan League at Trent Park on Saturday.

In winning the U-13 girls 3km race in 12 mins 57 secs, Alicia overcame the challenge of Middlesex champion, Enfield-based runner Despina Aslem.

Cross country

The Harlow runner had a great finish uphill to win by nine seconds.

Alicia was followed home by Mark Hall pupil Sky Mulvey (12), who was 5th in 13.41 and Jodi Ratcliff, who was 7th in 14.00.

It was a great effort from Jodi considering she had raced the previous night at the Lea Valley Athletics Centre, before setting a PB (personal best) in the 600m, coming 4th in 2.02.

Stewards School pupil Rosie Poole, (11) was 4th scorer placing 11th in 14.29.

Amelia Barrett won the U-15 girls 4km race by more than 40 seconds in 16.11.

The improving Isobel Moss (Passmores School) was 4th in 17.24.

Lauren Freeman, from North Weald, was given the honour of being named team manager for Woodford AC's young athletics team which raced at Lee Valley. She was 11th in the U-17 girls race in 18.38.

The Harlow boys also performed with great distinction.

In the U-13 3km race Canaan came up against Jamie Dee (current Herts champion ranked 10th in the UK over 1,500m in the summer).

Despite a fall, Solomon came 2nd and was only 10 seconds behind Dee in 11.33.

Perry Rowan achieved a fine 4th in the U-15 boys 4km race in 14.38 and was only 30 seconds behind the winner.

In the U-17 boys 4km race, Mark Hall student Ryan Dunne (15) was 12th in 14.26 and St Mark's student Sam Benge (17) was 21st in 15.26.

Wright choice as Canons Brook picks Toni

Golf

TONI Wright has started her reign as lady captain at Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club.

She was elected at the annual meeting and succeeded outgoing captain Anne Burton.

The ladies then celebrated with afternoon tea with club captain Alan Howick, as is the club tradition.

Toni, who has been a member of the club for about five years, received a bouquet of flowers to mark the occasion.

She faces a busy year as she automatically becomes a member of the captains committee, representing the ladies section.

She will also play in numerous matches and captain in mixed matches against a number of other local golf clubs.

● CANONS Brook Golf Club held its junior championship during the recent half-term.

Members took part in two rounds of medal play.

Dan Goddard, having shot a level par 73, held a two-shot lead after the first round from Simon White and Ben Spong.

In the second round, Simon closed the two-shot gap to force a play-off and was successful in this to claim the scratch championship.

Joe Neve, 12, shot two rounds of 97 (nett 65) to win the handicap prize.

Link are held

SERVO Link's winning run was ended by a 4-4 draw against Staple Tye Colts in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

Going into the pairs 3-1 up, they dropped three out of four games allowing Colts to come back and draw the match.

Link's Damian Green notched his third 180 of the season.

Jason Sutton (TwoPoundAPint) hit two 180s in his team's 8-0 whitewash at Colt Hatch.

Bottom side Crusader took a point at second-placed White Admiral in a 1-7 loss.

Brothers quit

BROTHERS Ryan and Lee Jessey have quit Harlow Cricket Club to join Ware.

The pair have followed the same path as Harlow skipper and key all-rounder Jason McNally, who joined the Saracens Herts Cricket League club last month.

Ware's first team plays in division five.

The Jesseys departure is a blow for Harlow who have also been weakened by the departure of wicket-keeper and former skipper James Butler, plus star all-rounder Ahmed Khawaja.

Late goals stun Harlow

THE final minutes hurt the Hawks badly as they conceded twice and had Sacha Opinel sent off when they slipped to defeat at title-chasing Wingate & Finchley.

Harlow Town were leading 1-0 in the 88th minute of Saturday's clash when the North London hosts equalised. Gary Burrell headed past the diving Rhys Madden into the bottom corner.

Opinel then brought down Leon Smith in the box.

Madden got a finger to Dave Laird's spot-kick but it went in off the right post to leave Harlow empty-handed.

Just before the end, Opinel was booked for a bad challenge earning him his second red card in two games.

Hawks boss Kevin Warren said: "We had improved from the last two games and were undone by two bits of magic at the end."

"Wingate are a decent side and I felt we gave a good account of ourselves. A draw would have been a fair result."

Earlier, Harlow's first real chance came on 15 minutes when Steve Ferguson's chip was well tipped away by former Bishop's Stortford keeper Gavin King.

Striker makes Hawks return

By DAVID RIMMER
david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STRIKER James Peagram could play for Harlow Town when they host Ryman League premier division side Maidstone United at home in the third qualifying round of the FA Trophy this Saturday.

The winners will get £4,000 and the Hawks will be aiming to complete a hat-trick of wins in the FA Trophy over teams higher than them in the non-League pyramid.

Bedford Town and Carshalton Athletic have already lost at Barrows Farm in the competition this season.

Peagram featured in Hawks' pre-season campaign before

Warren let him go, but the youngster now has the chance to establish himself at Harlow.

Warren said: "He has scored 18 goals for Hertford and that is good at any level. I let him go to Hertford so he could play week in week out."

"He has shown a good attitude and I want to give him a chance. Hopefully he can take it. We have needed another forward."

Warren said Peagram was set to play in a reserve game last night (Wednesday) and would be in the squad for Saturday's game against Maidstone, who are 18th in the Ryman premier.

Looking ahead to the Maidstone clash, Warren says he is hopeful his side can end their run of three successive defeats.

"They are not going to come and let us have the tie. It's not going to be an easy game. They are going to be strong and look to upset us," he said.

RETURN: James Peagram (Pic by Dan Sinclair)

"We will go into it with a bit of confidence from the other [FA Trophy] games and it's good we are at home."

Warren said he would like to bring on board a player from a Blue Square Bet South side who can play at right-back and on the right side of midfield.

The Hawks boss might release a couple of players, but would not say who they were. However, injured right-back Mark Taylor is unlikely to return due to work commitments.

"If I feel opportunities are not coming for players I will be honest with them," Warren added.

Harlow are still without striker Clark Akers, who has an ankle ligament injury, while right-back Donny Barnard will be out for at least two weeks after picking up a knee ligament injury at Wingate & Finchley.

Warren said skipper Leo Roget has a sore knee but should be OK.

If the Trophy game against Maidstone does not require a replay, Harlow will visit Maldon & Tiptree in the Ryman League division one north on Tuesday.

"They have turned it around a bit and this will be a tough game," said Warren.

New signing boost but Rams still in drop zone

THE Rams were in contention for much of their clash against Ipswich before they lost the initiative in the final quarter.

Saturday's defeat left Harlow in the bottom two, although consolation can be drawn from the return of centre Rhys Powell to the club.

He played his youth rugby at Harlow before playing for many years at a higher level.

Powell is a playmaker who can make a difference to any side.

Harlow started strongly and went ahead from an early try.

The ball was moved wide before full-back Rob Mackie came into the line and brushed past the last defender to touch down near the corner for an unconverted try.

strongly and Harlow were forced to defend.

Ipswich equalised on 29 minutes. Line-out ball close to the home line preceded Nick Woodley driving over for an unconverted try.

Both sides then kicked a penalty apiece with Michael Dobson kicking one for Harlow before Ipswich replied to make it 8-8 at half-time.

After a period of Ipswich pressure, Harlow scored from one of their first attacks of the second half. The ball was moved out to winger Will Grimley who brushed off the first defender and sprinted 50m to touch down an unconverted try in the corner (13-8).

Harlow reacted too slowly to Ipswich's 62nd-minute tap penalty, allowing Cray Gardiner an easy try which levelled the score.

Ipswich then went 16-13 ahead from a penalty.

The issue was settled when a gap in the Rams defence was exposed and Ipswich scored a late converted try.

BOARY THE RACING CAR

July 16 - 17

Who will win the race and be crowned the champion? Come and find out!

This Christmas take a magical carpet ride to the Far East in our fun-packed family pantomime!

Starring Chris Stanton (Mr Flatley from CBBC's hit show M.I. High) as Abanazar, Aaron Sidwell (Steven Beale from EastEnders) as Aladdin and Holly Matthews (Leigh-Ann Galloway from Waterloo Road and Emma Miller from Byker Grove) as the Princess, the show also features a full supporting cast, fantastic live band and dancers.

Laugh at dotty Widow Twankey, boo and hiss the evil Abanazar and cheer on our hero Aladdin who, with one rub of his magic lamp meets a most amazing Genie. From the same team that brought you the record-breaking 2009 pantomime Cinderella and this year's marvellous Easter production The Wizard of Oz, Aladdin will be a spectacular festive treat not to be missed!
